

DRI Title and Escrow Company PRIVACY NOTICE

The purpose of this Notice is to inform you of how DRI Title and Escrow, Inc. ("DRI") protects and uses your nonpublic personal information. Title V of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act ("GLBA") requires that we provide you with a notice of our privacy policies and practices which informs you of the types of information that we collect from you and the persons or entities to whom your personal information may be disclosed. DRI is strongly committed to protecting your privacy. DRI knows that you care how information about you is used and shared and we appreciate your trust that we will do so carefully and sensibly. This privacy notice outlines the information DRI will collect and how we will use that information.

1. TYPES AND USES OF PERSONAL INFORMATION.

In the course of your experience with DRI, you may share nonpublic personal information about yourself with us in a number of ways. You may provide personal information to us on applications or other forms when communicating or transacting with us in writing, electronically, or by phone, and through requests for forms or literature. On occasion, such information may come from consumer reporting agencies and those companies providing services to us incident to your title and escrow services.

For each visitor to the DRI web site, our web server automatically recognizes and collects the individual's domain name, not their e-mail address. The only information DRI obtains about individual visitors to its web site is that supplied voluntarily by visitors (e.g. name, company name, title, e-mail address, physical address). In cases when DRI may need additional personal information to provide visitors with customized content or to inform them about new features or services, visitors are explicitly asked for that information.

DRI also collects certain personal information with respect to its consumers in order to provide you with its services. Such personal information collected by DRI is kept strictly confidential and is used for internal purposes only, including, without limitation, providing you with requested services, improving our marketing and promotional efforts, statistically analyzing web site usage, improving our content and web site offerings, and to customize our web sites' content and layout. DRI also uses your information to create aggregate reports; however, these reports do not contain any personally identifiable information.

We treat this information as confidential and recognize the importance of protecting access to it. We may share information within the DRI family of companies to best meet your needs, but we do not disclose nonpublic personal information about you with third parties unless necessary to complete mortgage, title, insurance, and escrow transactions incident to your home purchase, or as otherwise permitted by law.

EXCEPT AS DISCLOSED IN THIS PRIVACY NOTICE, DRI DOES NOT SELL, LEND, RENT, OR OTHERWISE DISCLOSE ANY PERSONAL INFORMATION TO ANY

THIRD PARTIES. HOWEVER, YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION MAY BE SHARED WITH AFFILIATES, AGENTS, OR CONTRACTORS OF DRI.

Your personal information is used in the following ways:

- User IDs and Passwords. Provide you with access to your profile areas and to protected content.
- Account Information. This tells us more about who you are, how to contact you, and your shipping and billing information. Also contains any preferences you have provided, such as language, e-mail format, and interests.
- Customer Feedback and Support. Provides a mechanism for requesting information from DRI. Also used to tell us how we can improve our products, services, and site designs.
- Email Correspondence. Used to raise and respond to issues and inquiries of all types. Also used to distribute information about DRI, our products, and our services.
- Transactions. Show which products and services you have requested.

2. BUSINESS TRANSFERS.

As we continue to develop our business, DRI, or substantially all of its assets, may be acquired. In such a transaction, customer information will of course be one of the transferred business assets.

3. COOKIES.

Our web site will not place cookies in the browser files of your computer.

4. REGISTRATION

Our web site's registration system requires users to give us contact information, such as their name and e-mail address, and demographic information, such as a ZIP code, sex, age, or income level. The customer's contact information is used to contact the visitor when necessary. Users may choose (opt-in) to receive future mailings; see the choice/opt-in section below. Demographic and profile data are also collected at our web site. We use this data to tailor the visitor's experience at our web site, showing the visitor content that reflects his or her stated preferences. This information is shared with advertisers on an aggregate basis, but it does not indicate the identity of individual users.

5. DISCLOSURE REQUIRED BY LAW.

Unfortunately, due to the existing regulatory environment, we cannot insure that all of your private communications and other personal information will never be disclosed in ways not otherwise described in this privacy policy. By way of example (without limiting the foregoing), we may be forced to disclose information to the government or third parties under certain circumstances, or third parties may unlawfully intercept or access transmissions or private communications. Further, we can (and you authorize us to) disclose any information about you to law enforcement or other government officials as we, in our sole discretion, believe necessary or appropriate. Therefore, although we use industry standard practices to protect your privacy, we do not promise, and you should not expect, that your personal information or private communications will remain private.
